PRESIDENT'S REPORT

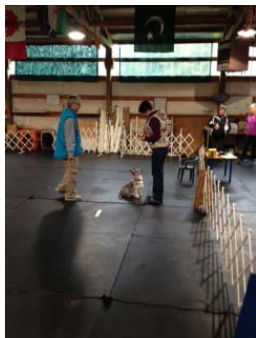

HOPE

As you know, WSOTC has been on life support, in true jeopardy of folding, over the last few years. A dwindling, aging, and health challenged membership, declining interest over the years in obedience, and so many opportunities for dog people in other dog sports, have taxed the Club's survival to the limits. But in recent months, there has been cause for me to have hope that WSOTC will in fact go on and perhaps even prosper. At the last meeting, we had first readings for five new members, who should be voted in at the November meeting. We elected one new member, Dori Ayala, who applied in July, with four new members in the year before that—this after a two year hiatus with no new members at all and very few in the 3-4 years prior. And I know of two people who will be submitting their applications for membership at the November meeting.

THE CANINE POST NOV. 2013

PRESIDENT'S REPORT (cont'd)

Part of this has been due to a change in the way we are conducting meetings. Asking people to come to the Meadowbrook facility on a week night with little to offer but dull business meetings was not a way to attract interest in the Club. So it seems our plan of having brief meetings at events people might already be interested in was the way to go. This began with the meeting held at our July agility trial, and continued with the October meeting at the C match held at Linda's building. Linda, who is rejoining after an absence of a few years, was kind enough to donate her building and help organize this. (And thanks as well to Mary Schurr as well for taking on the difficult task of taking entries and organizing the time slots.) Not only did the match give us a little profit, it offered a chance for people to engage in a well received and useful obedience activity. We could not accommodate all of the people who wanted to enter. People expressed interest in having more of these, and Kathy Lang has offered the use of her building for a similar match in February. We also plan a "December" meeting following the conclusion of the tracking test in Bow on December 1, and can hopefully get the people applying in November on board. The January meeting will be likely held at the Puyallup cluster, February meeting at the match at Family Dog, and March at the WSOTC trials. These meetings are short, with the agenda primarily consisting of announcements, critical votes, first readings and election of new members. This will generally mean that more of the business of the Club will be carried out by the Board, so if any of the new (or old) members would like to get involved in that aspect, they could certainly consider running for a Board position. At least as of now, Board meetings are conducted by phone conference.

Cute corgi at the C match; Debbie Addicoat judging

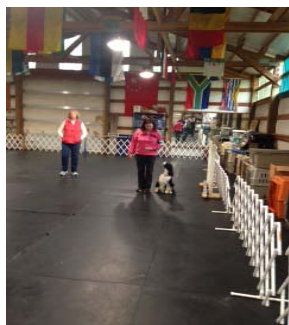

Another exciting event we are planning in the Connie Cleveland seminar held on June 21-22 2014. This is going to be not only a great opportunity for you to gather the wisdom of one of the most preeminent dog trainers in the country, but a chance for you to offer your services to the Club, which will also assure you of one of the limited working spots. We are still working out the positions, but feel free to contact me if you would like to volunteer. The seminar and matches will be helping us to recoup the hole in our budget from no longer being able to offer obedience classes.

Our other activities are coming along well. Lynn Brimmer made quick work of the need to replace one of our judges (Stephanie Gonyeau for Franna Pitt, whose recovery from surgery was slower than expected). Entries are still being taken, but it does look like we do have sufficient workers.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT (CON'T)

Prospective member Lisa McCoy and her springer Booth and judge Kathy Lang at the C match

The obedience trial seems to be going OK. We could still use another chair or two (mainly the set up on Friday) and of course we will be needing stewards.

We have a new web manager. Her name is Ane Brusendorff, and not a member, so she is being compensated for her time. For now, we are just having her do updates and keeping the site current, but some changes to the site to liven it up a bit are possible later. Please submit any items that need to be put on the website to me.

That is about it for now. As always, I am open to your ideas and suggestions.

WSOTC General Meeting Minutes October 2013 October 19, 2013

Submitted by Nancy Light, Acting Secretary

The meeting called to order at 12:25 pm at Linda Shea's Training Building in Issaquah WA by President Nancy Light. A quorum was present.

Report of the President The President thanked all for coming and reminded people that since business meetings, for the time being would include only limited announcements, so best to keep up via the Canine Post (including Board minutes) and the website for details on Club news. We are focusing on carrying out Club events—next ones will be the TD/TDX on December 1, 2013 and the Obedience trials, March 30 and 31. The next meetings are: Whidbey Island Kennel Club in the Obedience building on November 16, around noon; just after the TD/TDX ends on December 1 and likely on Saturday at the Puyallup cluster, also in the obedience building. As at this meeting, they are short, covering announcements, first readings for prospective members, Election of New members, and any other important items to vote on. This means that the Board will be conducting more of the business, but can stay in touch as noted via the newsletter and website, and via emails or phone calls to the Board to bring up issues.

GENERAL MEMBERSHIP Meeting Minutes continued (Nov. 2013)

Committee Reports

Membership: First readings for Debbie Adicoat, Suzanne Bolwell, Judy Peterson, Gloria Newby, and Linda Shea

Obedience Trial 2014: Trials are in place, will have judges listed on the website. Flyers will be out hopefully by WIKC. Trophies will be far more limited—just HIT, HC and 1-4th place. People who want to donate can combine so we can have nice trophies for those prizes. Kathy Lang offered to put together goodie bags for all exhibitors so all would have something nice to take away

Property -We will be moving property from SeaTac storage to Don Rennick's, volunteers needed. No date set.

Website – We are in transition to a new webmaster. Website may be down for a few days while this is happening.

Election of New Members:

Dori Ayala was voted into membership.

Kathy commented on how we need to have more C matches like this one and offered her building for a date TBD. (Likely we will conduct a short meeting there). It was suggested that we also hold one in December, but no specific plans were made.

The meeting was adjourned.

Your editor with Linda Shea and Journey, the Irish Water Spaniel, having fun at the C match.
